

NEVADA.

Under the above caption, the Tehachapi Tribune, the paper published by Judge T. H. Wells, at Tehachapi, Kern county, California, has the following containing the independence of Nevada in giving its electoral vote to the Silver party:

We see from San Francisco papers that Nevada has given her vote-plurality-in favor of the third or Silver party. This means that she prefers General Weaver, an out and out silver advocate favorable to free and unlimited coinage of both gold and silver, to Mr. Cleveland or Mr. Harrison, for each one of them has been tried in the Executive Chair on that question, and each has gone against Nevada's leading interest, silver mining. No wonder she opposed them in the ballot contest just ended. How could she do otherwise and continue to ask of Congress remonetization and free coinage? What vote for a Presidential candidate known to be dead-set against these propositions, and then ask Congress to adopt and send them to the White House for executive sanction, when those voters supported the President after his declared thereto? Glad to know that at least a plurality of Nevada voters are not such fools!

He Struck Carson Also.

A young fellow who gave the name of Frank W. Eastman and claimed to be a New York drummer stopped over here yesterday. He was sportively inclined and tried his luck at faro and other gambling games. As this takes money, and his supply of available cash seemed rather short, he gave drafts on a New York firm, which were cashed by several persons. He secured about $100 in this manner. Eastman was well dressed and a smooth talker and those who cashed his drafts seemed to suspect nothing wrong. This morning they discovered to their sorrow that the pieces of paper which they held were worthless. In the meantime Eastman had skipped out, leaving on the early east-bound train. Sheriff Fellows telegraphed to the officers at Wells to have him stopped and the swindler will be brought back and given a chance to explain his little bit of financiering.—Silver State.

Death of Richard L. Cummings.

Saturday morning at 1:30 Dick Cummings died in Austin, at the home of his mother. Deceased has been afflicted with a tumor on the neck for about one year. He came from Montana home about six weeks ago, and lingered until death relieved him of all earthly trouble Saturday morning. He was born in Michigan and was 27 years of age, and had lived in Austin over twenty years. Deceased's mother was so prostrated with grief, when an Advocate reporter called, that he could not learn when the funeral will take place, but think it will be tomorrow from the Catholic Church.—Austin Advocate.

Carson Guard Promotions.

The election of H. D. Thaxter (formerly Third Sergeant) as Second Lieutenant of Company F, and the regular promotion of non-commissioned officers below Third Sergeant, created a vacancy in the rank of Fourth Corporal, which was filled by the appointment of Geo. Cagwin. Under the new tactics more corporals being required, Capt. Maish has created the rank of Fifth and Sixth Corporals and appointed Henry Heidenrich and Will Doane to fill the positions.

Alf Doten the veteran journalist was down from Virginia City yesterday. Since the Silver party swept the State, Alf has hopes that the Comstock may revive in which event he will start up the Gold Hill News again and wear broadcloth.

James G. Blaine, who stands alone as one who escaped the Republican wreck, is coming to California to spend the winter. Altadena will be his home.
